

Save the date – “A clean break from the dirty work” – London, 8 September 2015

2015-09-03 11:09:04 Shipbreaking

Brussels, 3 September 2015 – Next Tuesday in London, Patrizia Heidegger, Executive Director of the NGO Shipbreaking Platform, will discuss current shipbreaking practices with progressive ship owners and why they have chosen to go for safer and cleaner alternatives off the beach. The event titled “A clean break from the dirty work” is organised by Immediasea in particular for journalists who will have the opportunity to interview the experts present.

WHEN: 08:45am - 12:00pm on September 8, 2015

WHERE: The Baltic Exchange, 38, St. Mary Axe, London

Register by email:

Christina Dupré Roos, christina@blue-c.no

Agenda

- 08:45 – 09:00 Registration
- 09:00 – 09:05 Opening remarks by Mark Fuhrmann, Session Chair (Immediasea)
- 09:05 – 09:20 Patrizia Heidegger, Executive Director
NGO Shipbreaking Platform, Brussels
- 09:20 – 09:35 Shipowners Association (TBC)
- 09:35 – 09:50 Gerhard Aulbert, Global Head of Practice Ship Recycling
DNV GL, Hamburg
- 09:50 – 10:05 Rakesh Bhargava, Head of Lay-up, Green Recycling and IHM Services
Wilhelmsen Ship Management, Kuala Lumpur
- 10:05 – 10:20 Dr. Nikos Mikelis, Non-Executive Director
GMS Leadership
- 10:30 – 11:15 Shipbreaking debate
- 11:15 – 11:45 One-to-one interviews
- 12:00 Lunch